JAPAN READY TO HIT BOLSHIEVIKI

May Repeat Disarming of Reds at Vladivostok.

TROUBLE FEARED BY TOKIO

Attempt to Bolshevize Whole Province is Seen.

TOKIO — (By Associated Press) — In the event of the Maritime Province of Siberia becoming insurrectionary, Japan is prepared to repeat her strong measures of last spring when the Bolsheviki were forcibly disarmed said Rear Admiral Kawahara, who has just returned from commanding the Japanese naval flotilla at Vladivostok in an interview with the Tokio Nichi Nichi.

A series of political changes, expected and perhaps unexpected, will take place," said the Admiral, "before political stability is secured in Russia and in the far Eastern Provinces. The Chita Government is all right so far as its professed policies are considered. Whether such policies will be faithfully pursued remains to be seen. Russian government must be based on real democracy, and it inspires one with a great deal of confidence that the present tendency is towards that direction.

"The Vladivostok Assembly is no longer reliable viewed from the Japanese standpoint, on account of the open declaration of the leading members that the establishment of a buffer state was not essential to the reconstruction of Russia. The Communists are growing in influence and there is every reason to believe that in the near future the whole Maritime Province will also be completely Bolshevized. Should the Chita Government attempt to Bolshevize the regions where the Japanese troops are stationed, the probable consequence will be repetition of the commotion caused in the vicinity of Vladivostok some time ago when compulsory disarmament of the Bolsheviki was carried out by the Japanese troops."

MAIL ROBBED OF $100,000, MESSENGER KIDNAPED

Bandits Stage Daring Holdup Near St. Louis, Where Shipment of Five Banks is Seized—Gangsters Make Their Getaway in Automobile

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(By Associated Press.)—Postal authorities and police today were continuing an investigation into the mail robbery at St. Charles, 20 miles west of here, last night, when a registered pouch, said to contain approximately $100,000 in cash and Liberty bonds, was reported stolen from a mail wagon by five armed men who kidnaped the messenger, Willis H. Thornhill.

Details of the robbery were related here by Thornhill, who was waiting at the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad station in St. Charles to put the pouch on a train for St. Louis, when the men came up in an automobile. They forced him into the car and took the pouch, releasing him on the northern outskirts of St. Louis.

Police said the money was shipped from five banks in St. Charles to local banking houses.

Officers of the banks refused to discuss their probable losses. At one establishment it was said a shipment of $4,100 in Liberty bonds was believed to have been taken.

Diary Tells His Long Story of Misfortune.

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — In a tenement room on the East Side today police explored an improvised cave where yesterday they found the body of Theodore Greasley, once prosperous business man, who had hidden himself there for six years, a veritable hermit in the most congested part of the world's largest city.

Today's search was for the gold cache, usually associated with stories of recluses.

Prepares Answer to Rail Men's Appeal in Wage Fight.

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press) — President Wilson planned to complete and transmit to the railroad labor unions today his reply to their request that he investigate grounds for the statement before the railroad labor board by W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania lines, that unless the carriers were permitted to readjust wages they faced a state of bankruptcy.

Atterbury there had been no indication of the nature of the president's reply. It was understood to be based on recommendations submitted by Secretary Payne in his capacity as director general of railroads.

The message from the seven railroad unions transmitted thru B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor and received at the White House Tuesday, urged that if conditions as pictured by Mr. Atterbury were found to be true the matter be placed before congress for remedial legislation.

IS HARDING'S MIND CENTERED ON GOLF OR IS HE TRYING TO PICK CABINET?

President-elect Harding on the links at Palm Beach, Florida. Is he intent on his game or is he deciding on his cabinet? Who knows?

To all intents and purposes President-elect Harding is giving no thought to the fact that everybody is anxiously awaiting his choice of cabinet members. He seems to be intent on his golf game, judging by the pictures of Harding, taken at Palm Beach during a stopover on his houseboat cruise in Florida. He has made no statement whatever concerning the makeup of his cabinet and it is the general belief, therefore, that he is taking this opportunity of deciding—away from presence of pleaders and job seekers—the personnel of his official family. Political posters in Washington, however, feel sure that these men will get berths in the new cabinet: Senator Fall of New Mexico, secretary of the interior; Harry Daugherty, Harding's campaign manager, attorney general; Charles S. Hughes, secretary of state; and Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury.

34 OHIOANS TAKEN AS FIRE TOLL DURING LAST MONTH

Eight Children Burned to Death by Use of Gasoline to Kindle Home Blazes—Four Killed by Open Stove, Marshal's Report Says

COLUMBUS.—(By Associated Press.)—Ohio's fire loss for the month of December totaled nearly half a million dollars, according to a report of the month issued by State Fire Marshal Dykeman.

The number of fires totaled 302, and the loss was $464,279, the report shows.

The report says:

"Defective electric wiring leads the causes for the number of fires, 25, with a total loss of $165,881; defective flues, 29, loss, $28,312; and chimneys, sparks, 26, third, $11,765. Seven kerosene stoves exploded and two lamps. There were 33 fires due to various troubles with matches and four from electric flat irons.

"Four Christmas trees went up in smoke; six families hung the wash to close to the stove. Ten gasoline explosions took toll of $683 in valuable property and at least ten lives. While there were but two fires caused by coals dropping from stoves, the loss was excessive—$44,202. Three non-rigid gas jets burned $3390 worth of household property.

"During January 1921, sixteen males and eighteen females met death by fire. Of these eleven were babies and children, four aged persons and nineteen youths and middle aged persons. Of the 18 females who died, 2 were children killed by the deadly gasoline used to kindle home fires with. The open stove or grate killed four persons. Bonfires, home fires, gas from stoves, premature blasts, inhalation of flames, and an automobile explosion account for the rest.

"Thirty-seven males and twenty-nine females were injured. Gas flames, oil, scalds, open fires, flares, hot metal, house and church fires, open stoves, a cigar, man-hole gas explosion, and open fires were responsible for these malings."

BIG BOOM SHOWN IN DRUG TRADE

Few of Lines to Increase, Says Washington Report

WASHINGTON — Is prohibition responsible for big growth in the drug business in the United States? Drugs, out of a long list of business groups, stand alone as the only one showing a jump in volume of sales and future contracts.

Drug business is rapidly expanding, while other lines have been under depression, consequent to price readjustments, the Federal Reserve Board said today, in a survey of the business field.

Wholesale sales to retail druggists, by wholesalers legally permitted to withdraw from bond and resell to the trade, account for part of the increase in drug business, officials said. In fact, they figure it is responsible for a very substantial amount of this increase.

The Board had no figures to show what proportion of the 28,000,000 gallons withdrawn last year went into "drug channels," but admittedly it was large. No figures were separately compiled to indicate the growth in the narcotic trade, but Treasury reports from various collectors' districts indicated that heavier revenues are coming in from that source, accounting in part possibly for some of the heavier business reported by the wholesale drug dealers.

CENTRAL HI TROUNCES LEGION 30--22; SOUTH HI WINNER

ST. MARYS LOSES TO SOUTH SIDE TEAM IN FAST GAME

By GEORGE DEKEN.

(Lima News Staff Correspondent.)

St. Marys high school basketball team fell before the speedy South Hi team here Friday night in an interesting game in the South gymnasium, with the score at the end of the game standing 24 to 10 in favor of the local team.

A remarkable improvement in the teamwork since the Central game a week previous was noticeable, and their defensive work was very commendable. St. Marys was forced to make all her points on long shots, as Ireland and Dally covered the territory of the visitor's in great shape.

Cap. Brookhart suffered an injury to his knee and had to be taken from the game. While he was in the battle he played a hard, brainy game all the way thru and kept his opposing guards in a quandary.

The result of last night's game, coupled with South's technical victory over Central goes to show that South has a team that is not to be trifled with.

Gab Picked Up At Random

The British gold championship tournament will begin at St. Andrews, June 20, it was stated in a cable message received recently by the United States Golf Association.

Tentative dates for the three American championships have been selected but will not be announced by the association for a few days to insure that the dates are satisfactory to both American and foreign players.

Robert Gardner of Chicago, former national amateur title holder, has been appointed by the executive committee which will select course for the 1922 championships. He will be aided by T. C. Fowkes, Jr. of Pittsburgh and Thomas E. Paint, Atlanta.

Possibly as a result of the success which has attended the enforcement of the boxing law in New York state, legislators throughout the country are introducing bills for the legalization of the glove game in their respective states. A boxing measure heavily backed, is about to be introduced in Illinois, and another is being prepared in Kansas. The legislatures in Washington and Utah have been asked to pass on similar bills and in Pennsylvania one will shortly be submitted to the solons providing for fifteen round bouts to decisions to replace the six and eight round no decision affairs now prevalent in that commonwealth.

The waiting prediction that after the war there would be great popularity for boxing obviously was not a fallacy.

Jack Britton, whose real name is William J. Breslin, acquired his nom de guerre in a peculiar manner. Born in Clinton, N. Y. he moved to New Britain, Conn. when only a few years old. Later the Breslin family went to Chicago to live. There Jack told his playmates that his name was Britton and that he came from New Britain. However, the boys dubbed him "Britton." The champion entered a ring as a participant in a preliminary bout at a Chicago club, he was so scared he told the announcer his name was "Britton." The announcer prefaced "Jack" to "Britton," and so introduced him to the multitude. The newspapers which chronicled the result of Jack's bout called him "Jack Britton," and the boy promptly adopted that spelling of his new found cognomen.

Would the acquisition of either Steve O'Neill or Ray Schalk by the New York Yankees enhance their club's chances for the pennant? Does a child love candy? That's the answer. With either of these two big bet catchers to handle the very efficient corps of pitchers on the Ruppert-Burton payroll we'd bet our last Canadian dime knowing that it was worth only eight cents, on the Yankees to beat out the Indians. Yes, and goes whether or not the New York lands Sam Rice and Joe Judge of the Washington Nationals.

Wally Schang is a pretty good ball player, especially on the offensive, but if there is one weak link in the Yankees' 1921 outfit it is behind the bat. An O'Neill or Schalk handling the pitchers and adding their general mechanical efficiency to the Yankees' cause in place of Schang would just about make it a cinch for Babe Ruth and supporting cast.

When Manager George McBride of the Senators has his players assembled at their spring training camp in Tampa next month he will give Frank Bower an opportunity to show his skill as a twirler. McBride has practically made up his mind to convert the hard hitting first baseman into a pitcher, and the leader hopes that the player will come thru. If he does the Senators' pitching staff will be greatly strengthened. Bower has had experience as a moundman.

REMARKABLE SHOWING IS MADE BY LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

By BILL GUNNINGHAM.

(Lima News Staff Correspondent.)

Central Hi, spurring during the last six minutes of play, overcame a lead of 8 points and defeated the Lima American Legion Friday night at the Central Hi gym, 30-22.

The game was fast and hard fought. The Legion team was at first overconfident, but during the latter part of the game they were forced to work their hardest to keep the Central quintet from scoring more points.

The victory was a surprise to Central fans as well as the Legion, as they had expected Central to play a hard game but not to be victorious by eight points.

The game started with both teams guarding closely and it was several minutes until a foul was called on James, Miller, Legion, made the free throw and so started the Legion in the lead. A minute later, Lutz, Central, dropped the ball thru the hoop from the middle of the floor and put Central in the lead.

The Legion came back with another basket and again held the lead. Central then worked the score up several points but the Legion overcame this the latter part of the first half and when the first half ended were leading by a score of 12-5.

The second half opened with both teams playing a much harder game. The Legion continued their spurt and worked up their score to 15 points before Central could score.

CENTRAL STARTS RALLY

Then Central started to drop the ball thru the hoop from all parts of the floor. With perfect long shooting they tied the score and in the last six minutes worked their lead to 8 points before the final gun.

Central played better basketball than at any time this year from the standpoint of long shots. Early in the game it developed that they could not work the ball down to the basket due to the guarding of Churchill.

Then relying on long shots they ran the Legion to death and scored repeatedly. Lutz, Central forward, played the stellar game for both teams. His dribbling and passwork were big features of the game but his dropping the ball thru the hoop seven times from the middle of the floor was an exhibition.

LUTZ IS A STAR

During the last half he scored ten points. Laughlin, who perhaps played the poorest game he has played in this year, scored two field goals and this year was evenly matched with Baker, the rangy Legion center.

With long shots, Dille making three goals, Dovey shot two fouls out of as many attempts the last half of the game with James connecting with one basket.

Churchill and Baker divided honors for the Legion. Baker scoring three field goals with Churchill breaking up the passing of the Centralites.

SHOW LACK OF TRAINING

Both teams showed they were not in the best of training. The Central team, however, having the most endurance and completely exhausting the Legion quintet the final minutes of play.

This game gives Central hopes of continuing their winning streak and

EASTERN CITY WANTS MITT BATTLE

BALTIMORE, Md.—Sportsmen in this city Friday entered the bidding for the world's heavyweight championship fight between Jack Dempsey, present titleholder, and George Carpentier.

Jack Hanlon, matchmaker of the Eureka club, of which Al Herford is the promoter, has written Tex Rickard to the effect that Baltimore wants the fight and that Herford will go in with Rickard to the extent of $200,000 in helping to finance it.

PREDICTS CAPACITY HOUSE

The letter, which should reach Rickard today, says:

"Baltimore is the ideal spot for this match. It is easily accessible to New York, Philadelphia, Washington, and all other big cities of the east. It should draw a capacity crowd."

"Our club is willing to go in with you on the erection of an arena as large as the one you erected at Toledo for the Willard-Dempsey fight in 1919."

"We offer you a sight for the big fight and will invest from $100,000 to $200,000 in the promotion of it if you wish to share the investment."

AWAITS RICKARD REPLY

Hanlon said that he was waiting for Rickard's reply, and that if there was a chance of doing business Herford and himself would leave immediately for New York to talk over the matter.

"We can draw a crowd in Baltimore as big as any New York could draw," Hanlon said. "The location makes that possible. This city is easy to reach for all fight fans of the east."

"If we can land this bout, Baltimore immediately will take rank as the greatest fight center in the world."

ATTORNEY IS NAMED AID TO LANDIS

CHICAGO—Leslie M. O'Connor, whose name has never been identified with baseball except as a fan and an amateur player, was appointed yesterday by Judge Landis as his secretary and treasurer.

The commissioner of organized baseball rather upset the customs of the game by selecting an outsider instead of someone who has been identified with the national pastime, but at the same time has followed his apparent intentions of choosing someone who has no opinions on baseball matters and will take up the new work without malice or prejudice.

Mr. O'Connor is a young Chicago attorney, 31 years of age, and a resident of the Rogers Park district, living at 1340 Farwell-ave and having an office at 20 N. La Salle-st.

The judge announced that the salary for the assistant would be $7,500 a year, and that he would assume his duties this morning, when the books of the former national commission would be turned over to him. Temporary offices will be taken at the Auditorium hotel until the permanent office is obtained in the Gas building on May 1.

"I picked Attorney O'Connor not only for his personal character," Judge Landis said, "but also because I know he is not interested in baseball except as a sport and a recreation. He has no financial interest in the game, but has the qualifications that I think are needed to handle the job."

CONSIDERED 22 CANDIDATES

It was said there were twenty-two candidates considered for the job, though many of them were not aware of it, while others were hot on the trail of the chance. Many of the candidates were baseball writers, and it generally was expected that one of the members of the fourth estate would be picked. However, all of the writer candidates naturally knew pretty well the baseball situation, and perhaps may have formed an opinion on matters.

In choosing an attorney the judge will have a man who should be better qualified to handle disputes, the baseball law differs materially from civil law.

"EYES AND EARS" OF LANDIS

The duties of the secretary, as a prominent magnate mentioned, will be to act as the "eyes and ears" of baseball as well as attend to the office routine.

It is likely that a formal meeting of the advisory council of baseball will be held within a couple of weeks, now that the secretary has been appointed. The council consists of Judge Landis and the two major league presidents, B. B. Johnson of the American league and John A. Heydler of the National A. Number of cases, many of minor importance, have accumulated and should be decided before another season opens.

ALL THE MONEY YOU HAVE CANNOT BUY TWO WORDS IN THESE COLUMNS

AN ECONOMIC PROBLEM

THE levy of such colossal reparations upon Germany, as agreed upon by the Allied premiers in a most recent conference, very naturally is viewed with alarm by certain economists, says the Dayton News.

If Germany during the next 42 years is going to be obliged to raise and pay over to the Allies for reparations and indemnities a sum approximately $50,500,000,000, the money will have to be raised through trade routes. There are some who look with grave fear upon the consequences resulting from the condition which of necessity will have to arise within the German nation in order to make possible the raising of this stupendous sum. It will be necessary, of course, for Germany to raise the taxes and other methods sufficient sums of money to run its government and provide for the customary expenses of the country during the 42-year period. And so $50,500,000,000 really doesn't represent the mark at which the new Germany will have to shoot for the next half century.

Economists profess to see in the staggering sum demanded a real menace to several countries, particularly the United States, Great Britain and France. If Germany starts in at once to increase her earning capacities, she must have a way of increasing her incomes. In a general way and chiefly she will have to enlarge her selling powers to the rest of the world. Her manufacturers will have to increase their affairs to enormous proportions and they will have to manufacture in such quantities or use such inferior materials as to make competition with the industrial units in other nations more difficult than it ever has been before. Germany, of course, is not expected to possess of itself fifty billions of dollars without possessing some way of earning it in the course of the 42-year period.

The Allies, therefore, as the shrewd economists point out, will find their own markets seriously upset, as English, French and American manufacturers come into competition with German products which are bound to flood the trade centers of the world as quickly as it is possible to set the wheels of German industry in motion and start production on a colossal scale. If England and France find the competition too great, their own national incomes will be affected to the point where the paying of their debts, incurred thru loans to the American government, will be seriously handicapped. America, indirectly, will feel this economic condition, and in a general way a reaction is not impossible that will shake the universe. But these are matters for world financiers to settle. They will require close study.

CHARLES G. DAWES REPORTS

THERE will be no cheers from the political "smelling committees" following the report of his stewardship as Chief of Supply Procurement for the American Army in France, made by Charles G. Dawes, of Chicago, the Springfield News observes. The House War Investigating Committee met a tartar in Colonel Dawes. He knew that he was talking about when he faced these self-appointed critics of the administration. Throwing political camouflage aside, and sticking religiously to his text, Colonel Dawes minced no words in hurling back in the faces of these "pink tea" critics the truth of what actually took place in France during and after the American soldiers went overseas. Self-opinionated persons must have felt the shock of his clear cut defiance of unwarranted criticism. The truth always hurts men who seek to avoid it. In language described as more forceful than elegant, Colonel Dawes traced the work of his branch of war service, branded those who complained about the sale of left over supplies as servants of muckrakers and very openly placed his cards on the table, face up. It has been a popular diversion among men who were seeking to discredit the present administration for the winning of the war, to criticize with picaresque detail every step taken in defense of the country at home and abroad. The unfortunate feature of all this has been that lots of people believed much that was charged. It has remained, therefore, for Colonel Dawes, a conspicuous leader of his party, to disprove the misstatements. He told Congressman Oscar E. Bland, an Indiana Republican, in response to a query as to whether the American supplies in France should not have brought more money: "It is just that sort of fool argument that forced Great Britain to hold on to its stocks and attempt to drive a hard bargain. The stuff is there today rotting. You cannot discuss an export question 3,000 miles away. There is no use to try to throw mud when you were not there to know conditions."

It was Colonel Dawes' particular duty to procure supplies for the American army in France, and he served in this capacity with conspicuous ability. It is easy to understand why a man who had gone thru what he had might possess little patience and no confidence at all in critics who held cloak-room conference and drew up plans for discrediting the work of the American army and its officers in France. Some very big and important men quit their jobs in this country to work at home or go over to France to make possible the speedy winning of the war. The trouble has been that the critics, in seeking to heap abuse and calumny upon the war administration, have hit directly at prominent members of their own party. It has taken a straight from the shoulder reply, and report of the kind Colonel Dawes is capable of delivering, to wake up some of these higher critics. His testimony in behalf of and his defense for the war administration must have been very disconcerting to those who had counted on him to betray the truth when face to face with the House Investigating Committee. He has spoken. Facts multiply to indicate how baseless have been the grounds of complaint and the bitter partisanship displayed.

THE STATE'S PET DEVILFISH

PROCEEDING calmly and firmly under the erroneous impression that the Creator, assisted by the treasury of the State of Ohio, keeps maintained the supply in Lake Erie for its particular benefit the benevolent Fish Trust is using its peculiar powers to prevent the enactment of pending legislation in the General Assembly designed to protect the spawning beds and refuges that lie within the rivers, bays and estuaries along the shore, the Cincinnati Enquirer says.

For a half century the fight to prevent the extinction of the once plentiful production from this source has steadily been fought with constantly changing periods of success. More recently the state has been on the winning side, the still at a woeful disadvantage because of the possession of vast cold storage properties by its adversary.

Thru this powerful means it controls the price to the commercial fishermen and to the consumer, taking toll from both. Under the plea of eliminating carp gradual penetration has been made of these inland waters until the danger alarm was sounded by watchful friends of game fishing. Investigation reveals the interesting fact that the companies make a business of propagating carp and that many thousands of dollars are invested in that branch of the business. The plea, therefore, is an audacious falsehood.

Appeal is now being made to the gaudy of business, agents being sent into Chambers of Commerce along the lake with instructions to have adopted stock resolutions protesting against injuring an established industry. In the same way the fish handlers' unions and the commercial fishermen are being leaned upon as supporters. Some chambers, through their trustees, have been unfortunate enough to be taken in by this artful device.

The fact, though, is that the matter is one for the entire state and not for Toledo, Sandusky, Cleveland and other cities finally to determine. Concerned in it are the food supply of the people and the money drawn from the taxpayers to maintain hatcheries, fish wardens, protective guards and vessels to the end that the trust may not completely sweep the lake of that supply. The cry that the bill is in the interest of sportsmen is maliciously untrue. What they have done is only to demonstrate that unless checked the avaricious and greedy fish dealers will extinguish all forms of life within the waters of the once teeming reservoir of delicious and nutritious food. For this they deserve the state's thanks.

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, growls with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a pure, vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their green color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like—15c and 30c.
